AuthorHouse UK, United States, 2013. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****. Loved and loving, indulged, even downright spoilt and at the heart of a migrant family whose forebears had sought a haven and livelihood in South Africa in the late 19th century, Edward Joffe's memoir of his Johannesburg up-bringing is not only a happy romp through the travails and adventures of childhood to adulthood but also a vivid window on 20th century life in a country of dramatic and often bitter contrasts. Acutely drawn characters people Eddie's early life - from the bodybuilding Ash to the London Cockney Gran with her Boer War memories, from Aunt Minnie decorating every available surface with shells to the Marist Brothers College where the teachers are a cast of characters from some down market theatrical farce. There are happy times playing in the storeroom of Eddie's - his father's successful greengrocer's - and on Jo burg's koppies. There's a Richmal Crompton Just William aura about Eddie and his chums. College and University life opens up a new seam of adventure - sexual and commercial - hilarious at times and poignant at others. A student tour of post-war Europe is so evocative of an era that this passage could stand alone as a record of its time. Again Eddie's real talent for characterisation and description is to the fore. Not certain of a career path he dabbles in being an art dealer, a jewellery salesman, an advertising agent. As a soundman he produced wedding recordings then goes on an Africa-wide adventure as writer / director with an eccentric film producer and here a possible future career comes into view. However, there is a very moving...
